

Workshop on Bounded Rationality

Stony Brook, NY, July 17-18, 2011

Schedule of Talks

Sunday, July 17
9:00 - 9:45	Roy Radner (Stern School of Business, New York University) Bounded Rationality: In Search of a Definition
9:45 - 10:30	John Roemer (Yale University) Judicial precedent as a dynamic rationale for axiomatic bargaining theory
10:30 - 11:00	Coffee Break
11:00 - 11:45	Ran Spiegler (Tel Aviv University and University College London) Price Competition under Limited Comparability
11:45 - 12:30	Andreas Blume (University of Pittsburgh) Language barriers
12:30 - 14:00	Lunch Break
14:00 - 14:45	Georg Weizsacker (UCL & DIW Berlin) Preference for randomization: Experimental and empirical evidence
14:45 - 15:30	Marcin Peski (University of Toronto) Anti-folk theorems in repeated games with private monitoring
15:30 - 16:00	Coffee Break
16:00 - 16:45	Ignacio Esponda (New York University) Hypothetical Thinking and Information Extraction: Pivotal Voting in the Laboratory
18:30 - 22:00	Reception Dinner (Curry Club)

Monday, July 18

9:00 - 9:45	Robert John Aumann (Hebrew University of Jerusalem) Rule-Rationality versus Act-Rationality
9:45 - 10:30	Erik Eyster (London School of Economics) An approach to asset pricing under limited understanding
10:30 - 10:45	Coffee Break
10:45 - 11:30	Philippe Jehiel (University College London and PSE) Reputation with analogical reasoning
11:30 - 12:15	Erik Mohlin (University College London) Optimal Categorization
12:15 - 13:30	Lunch Break
13:30 - 14:15	Willemien Kets (Northwestern University) Bounded Reasoning and Higher-Order Uncertainty
14:15 - 15:00	Ariel Rubinstein (Tel Aviv University and New York University) Eliciting Welfare Preferences from Behavioral Datasets